Square the side to find area; take the square root to recover the side.